

Château Anthonic

2014

MOULIS-EN-MÉDOC

« The Château Anthonic 2014 has a broody blackcurrant and mulberry-scented nose, quite complex with an attractive, subtle seaweed note in the background. The palate is medium-bodied with grainy tannin, good fruit concentration and structure with a lovely tobacco-stained finish.

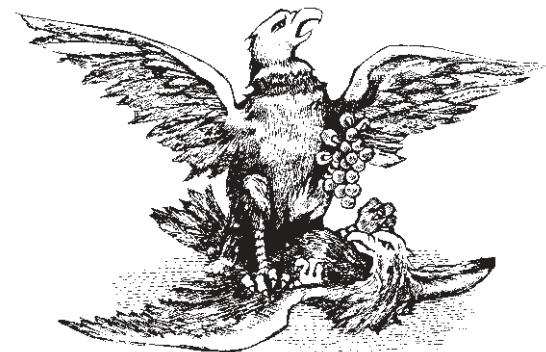

Looking for a good Moulis wine?

This might well be my pick. »

89-91

Neal MARTIN, eRobertParker.com

Tasted April 2015

Château Anthonic

2014

MOULIS-EN-MÉDOC

« This is a finely balanced wine. With its tannins so well integrated with the blackberry fruit, it is going to be a juicy while structured wine. The dry core is likely to open up as it develops.
Drink this attractive wine from 2020. »

90 Points

Roger VOSS, WINE ENTHUSIAST, 01/04/2017

